

SONOMA VALLEY EXPOSITOR.

VOL. VII.

SONOMA, SONOMA COUNTY, CALIFORNIA, FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 15, 1905.

NO. 36.

LODGE NOTICES.

REBEKAH LODGE, No. 90.
L. O. O. F. Meets in Odd Fellows' Hall on the second and fourth Thursday evenings of each month.
BETHA MCGIMSEY, N. G.
MRS. A. PAULI, Secretary.

SONOMA PARLOR, No. 111.
N. S. G. W. Meets on the first and third Monday evenings of each month at Odd Fellows' Hall.
W. M. RAMBO, President.
L. H. GREEN, Secretary.

VALLEY OF THE MOON CHAPTER, No. 85, O. E. S.
Meets in the Masonic Hall on the Thursday evening or preceding the full moon of each month.
MRS. W. O. HOOKER, W. M.
MATTIE GOODMAN, Secretary.

PUEBLO LODGE, No. 168, A. O. U. W.
Meets every first and fourth Tuesday evenings of each month at Odd Fellows' Hall.
J. B. MORRIS, President.
PHILIP BILL, M. W.
J. T. MCQUIDDY, C. C.

BEAR FLAG CAMP, No. 108, W. O. F.
Meets on the second and fourth Monday evenings of each month at Odd Fellows' Hall.
J. T. MCQUIDDY, C. C.
L. H. GREEN, Secretary.

SONOMA CAMP, No. 957, M. W. O. F.
Meets on the second Tuesday of each month at Odd Fellows' Hall.
DR. W. T. MONTGOMERY, Consul.
ROBERT FUSSELL, Secretary.

EL VERANO GRANGE, No. 169, P. O. of H.
Meets on the second and fourth Wednesday evenings of each month at Odd Fellows' Hall.
JAS. F. TATE, Master.
MRS. JOHN WAGGON, Secretary.

PROFESSIONAL CAPDS.

G. A. J. SCHEUER, M. D.
Physician and Surgeon.
Cleveland Building
SONOMA, CALIFORNIA
Office hours: 1 to 4 p. m.

A. E. BYRON,
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON.
X-RAY AND ELECTRICAL TREATMENT
Dal Pogetto Building,
Office hours from 10 A. M. to 12 M., and from 2 to 4, and 7 to 9 P. M.

A. M. THOMSON, M. D.
Physician & Surgeon.
SONOMA, CAL.

STUART Z. PEOPLES, M. D.,
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON,
Office Campa Building, Phone, Red 531.
Residence, 602 Howard street, Petaluma.

DR. J. W. JESSE,
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON,
OFFICE: Doyle & Overton Building
SANTA ROSA, CAL.

T. A. NUFER,
VETERINARY SURGEON
City Hotel, Sonoma, from Sunday evening till Thursday morning. Remainder of the week at Race Hotel, Petaluma, Cal.

D. R. VAN AMRINGE,
DOCTOR OF DENTAL SURGERY.
Cleveland Building,
Broadway & Napa Streets,
SONOMA, CAL.

A. B. WARE,
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,
Phone 21, Santa Rosa, Cal.

ROBERT A. POPPE
Attorney at Law, Notary Public.
Office—East side of Plaza, Sonoma, Cal.

JOSEPH P. BERRY,
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,
Rooms 21 and 22, Dougherty-Shea Building,
SONOMA, CAL.

HARLEY P. MATHEWSON
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW
NOTARY PUBLIC
Cleveland Building
Sonoma, Cal.

R. M. SIMS
Attorney-at-Law
Will practice in all the courts of Sonoma County.
Rooms 114 and 115, Chamber Building
Telephone Bush 122

W. O. SCHMIDT,
Ph. D. (Bonn), M. A. (Edinburgh), etc.,
RECEIVES PUPILS.
All Subjects: Music, Drawing, Painting and Elocution.
Terms on application.
BUENA VISTA CASTLE, SONOMA, CAL.

Good Dry Wood for Sale
DELIVERED
See H. CASTAGNASSO
Sonoma, Cal.

IF YOU WISH TO ADVERTISE
IN NEWSPAPERS
ANYWHERE AT ANYTIME
Call on or write
E. C. DAKES ADVERTISING AGENCY
124 Sansome Street
SAN FRANCISCO, CALIF.

CITY HOTEL

JAS. C. O'Rourke, Proprietor
(SUCCESSOR TO P. LOUSTALET)

Best Table in the City. Nice, New, Clean Beds.
We take pride in furnishing our table with an abundance of the best of the market affords, prepared by an experienced chef.
Rates $7 per week and upward. Special rates by the month and for families.
Favorite Resort for Commercial Men. Finest Wines, Liquors and Cigars
Napa Street, Sonoma, Cal.

Agua Caliente Springs Hotel

Theodore Richards, Proprietor

HEALTH GIVING MINERAL WATERS

The Hotel and Cottages are equipped with every modern convenience, such as gas, electric call bells, hot and cold water. Large swimming bath and tubs are supplied daily with natural mineral water. The waters of these famous springs cure Rheumatism, Stomach, Liver, Kidney, Bladder, Skin and Blood disorders. A fine new steam dining room, largest of any resort in the State, has just been completed. Will accommodate 500 guests. Tennis Court, Croquet Lawn, Archer Grounds, and many other attractions for amusement of guests.

An ideal place to take a swim and enjoy a Sunday's outing.

Rates: $2.00 and $2.50 per day. $12 to $14 per week. Special rates for families.

Address: THEODORE RICHARDS, Agua Caliente, Sonoma County, Cal.

SONOMA MEAT MARKET

Lewis & Cummings, Proprietors

CHOICE BEEF, PORK, MUTTON, SAUSAGE

LARD, HAM, BACON, ETC.

Shop on Napa Street - - - Sonoma, Cal.

Central Meat Market

K. WEBER, Proprietor.

CHOICE FRESH, SALT AND CURED MEATS.

Fruits and Vegetables

Always on Hand in their Seasons.

MRS. J. A. POPPE

The Pioneer Merchant

Has a Large Assortment of Dependable

Dry Goods, Groceries, Boots & Shoes

Prices Right Courteous Treatment Give Her a Trial

Agent for Wheeler & Wilson Sewing Machines and Supplies

East Side Plaza - - - Sonoma, Cal.

Santa Rosa Business College

Our Own Building,
Built for Ourselves,
For a Business College.

This School is generally acknowledged to be the equal, if not the superior, of any other commercial college on the Pacific Coast. Our facilities are the best to be had. Over one hundred lined feet, fully equipped counting-house offices. Special invitation is extended to graduates of other institutions to take a post-graduate course with us. Send for Circulars.
J. S. SWEET, A. M., President.

Patronize Home Enterprise!

Sonoma Brewing Co.

and Bottling Works

KESTLER, SCHNURR & STEINER, Proprietors.

Brewery and Bottling Plant, Second St. East, Sonoma.

MANUFACTURERS OF

MADE FROM BEST HOPS AND MALT ONLY AND THE PUREST

ARTESIAN WATER.

BOTTLED AND AGENTS FOR THE

Celebrated Bohemia Lager Beer

WAGON CALS DAILY FOR ORDERS AND DELIVERS IN SONOMA

VALLEY. YOUR TRADE SOLICITED.

SONOMA VALLEY ICE AND GOLD STORAGE COMPANY

F. D. BOSE, Proprietor.

Manufacturers

FROM PURE

ICE Artesian Water

ONLY

PATRONIZE THE HOME PRODUCT

Your Trade Solicited.

CHOICE MISCELLANY NEW SHORT STORIES

Millions at a Mule's Foot.
In the World's Work this is told of the discovery of the famous Cœur d'Alene mines. Half the lead that has been mined in the United States has come from the famous Cœur d'Alene, the most productive lead mines in the world. Like many of the richest mines they were discovered by pure luck.

A man lent his mule to two prospectors. In the course of their wanderings the mule was tied to a tree, and he, becoming impatient, pawed the ground and uncovered a lead vein which is now the site of the famous Bunker Hill Sullivan mine. The owner of the mule sued for a third interest in the claim, and the courts granted it to him, stating that as the mule had made the discovery and that as he was its owner he was entitled to the mule's share.

The three owners sold their discovery for $500,000, and nothing was too good for that mule for the rest of his life. He was exhibited in a private car and lived on the fat of the land, and now a tombstone marks his grave.

Sea Animals in the Desert.
Scientists of the University of California, who have been searching for prehistoric animals on the Nevada desert for the last few months have succeeded in finding skeletons of some sea mammals on the dry wastes. One of the specimens is twenty-nine feet long and packed occupies fifty-four boxes. This specimen was found on the great forty mile desert in Humboldt county and is considered one of the most valuable fossils ever found.

The deserts of Nevada are rich in such prehistoric relics, and they intend to spend several weeks more in research. The large sea animal has been shipped to the University of California and will be placed in the museum of that college. The professors intend to cover the whole state of Nevada before returning to California, but so numerous have been their finds in the Humboldt desert that they may confine their work to that place alone—San Francisco Chronicle.

Russia's Cheerless Cities.
There is something terribly depressing about these ungaily Russian cities, vast extent, though comparatively small in population and more like overgrown villages than real towns. There are very many of them scattered about over the length and breadth of the empire, both in Europe and Asia, all very much alike, all dirty and uncomfortable, untidy and, with a few exceptions, utterly devoid of anything worth seeing. Every one seems oppressed by life, by the monotony of life, by the squalor and the sordid poverty, especially in wet weather, when the filthy streets become rivers of mud and the cabs have just enough life in them to be a nuisance for passengers from top to toe—From Villard's "Russia."

A New Method of Cooling Rooms.
John H. Rich, Brooklyn manufacturer, has invented a method of cooling and drying the air of rooms, no matter how hot and humid it may be outside. The plan consists of pipes containing brine, which is carried around the room, being forced very much like the heat is forced in winter, and the more intense the pressure the lower will become the temperature. The secret of it is that the moisture is taken from the air, being condensed on the pipes, from which it is then removed, and the humidity is thus done away with. No fee or chemicals are used. This method of cooling has been experimentally demonstrated in a big hotel, and those who have seen it in operation say it is a great success—New York World.

A Modest Duke.
The Duke of Norfolk's dislike of pompousness has given rise to many stories. A school treat was being held in Arundel Park, his splendid ancestral home, and the duke was crossing one of the lawns when a tenant, unaware of the duke's identity, rushed across to him and shouted: "Come off the grass at once! It is people like you whose behavior gets parks shut to the public." On another occasion, it is said, the duke went to a convent to preside over a gathering. The sister who opened the door thought the unobtrusive stranger was seeking assistance and gently told the duke there was nothing for him!

A Rare Butterfly.
The British museum has in its collection a rare butterfly which was obtained in a remarkable manner. On a steamship bound for Sydney, N. S. W., several men were shooting at a mark with a revolver. As one of them was about to fire he noticed a butterfly hovering over the ship. He shot at it and brought it to the deck, considerably mangled. The insect was so beautiful that the pieces were collected and sent to an English entomologist. The butterfly proved to be of a species entirely unknown to the scientific world.

Boarding United States Criminals.
A female pickpocket, known all over the United States, got off with a four months' sentence in Toronto the other day because Judge Morgan believes that Canada should not have to support United States criminals. Out in British Columbia the point of view is different. When a criminal hailing from the United States falls into the clutches of the law he is given all the law allows, the opinion prevailing that it is cheaper to board a United States criminal for a long time than many United States criminals all the time. The British Columbia view is the right one—Montreal (Que.) Gazette.

One Exception.
"No," declared Mr. Nagget, "there never was a woman on earth who could refrain from turning around to rub her at some other woman's clothes." "Didn't?" replied his wife sweetly. "Didn't you ever hear of Eve?"—Philadelphia Press.

Before the Ceremony.
Rural Groom—Sue! I can't see no reason why we shouldn't get along when we're married. The Magistrate—Well, I just marry folks and don't express any opinions.—New York Press.

Crushed.
"Really—er—stammered the gossip, who had been caught red handed, 'I'm afraid you overheard what I said about you. Perhaps—er—I was a bit too severe.'"
"Oh, no," replied the other woman. "You weren't nearly so severe as you would have been if you knew what I think of you."

Soporific.
The Author—Are you unfamiliar with my book? The Friend—I have a nodding acquaintance with it.—Life.

Crushed.
"Really—er—stammered the gossip, who had been caught red handed, 'I'm afraid you overheard what I said about you. Perhaps—er—I was a bit too severe.'"
"Oh, no," replied the other woman. "You weren't nearly so severe as you would have been if you knew what I think of you."

The Eccentric Depositor.
H. A. Fuller, toastmaster at the annual banquet of the Pennsylvania bankers' convention in Wilkesbarre last month, introduced with this story the banker who responded to the toast, "Our Depositors."
"A depositor in a neighboring trust company is an eccentric farmer of middle age. This farmer, though he is wealthy, overdraw his account one day to the tune of $500.
"Notification of the overdraft was at once sent to him.
"You tell me I have overdrawn my account $500. Well, I know it. So what is the necessity of bothering me about it? Why not trust me as I do you? Do I go to you when I have money in your institution and shout, 'You have $500 of mine?' Such statements are superfluous either way."—Buffalo Enquirer.

Crushed.
"Really—er—stammered the gossip, who had been caught red handed, 'I'm afraid you overheard what I said about you. Perhaps—er—I was a bit too severe.'"
"Oh, no," replied the other woman. "You weren't nearly so severe as you would have been if you knew what I think of you."

Crushed.
"Really—er—stammered the gossip, who had been caught red handed, 'I'm afraid you overheard what I said about you. Perhaps—er—I was a bit too severe.'"
"Oh, no," replied the other woman. "You weren't nearly so severe as you would have been if you knew what I think of you."

Crushed.
"Really—er—stammered the gossip, who had been caught red handed, 'I'm afraid you overheard what I said about you. Perhaps—er—I was a bit too severe.'"
"Oh, no," replied the other woman. "You weren't nearly so severe as you would have been if you knew what I think of you."

Crushed.
"Really—er—stammered the gossip, who had been caught red handed, 'I'm afraid you overheard what I said about you. Perhaps—er—I was a bit too severe.'"
"Oh, no," replied the other woman. "You weren't nearly so severe as you would have been if you knew what I think of you."

Crushed.
"Really—er—stammered the gossip, who had been caught red handed, 'I'm afraid you overheard what I said about you. Perhaps—er—I was a bit too severe.'"
"Oh, no," replied the other woman. "You weren't nearly so severe as you would have been if you knew what I think of you."

GIOTTO, THE ARTIST.

The Circle He Drew From Which Grew a Famous Phrase.
Giotto was a famous painter, sculptor and architect of the latter part of the thirteenth century. He was a son of a poor shepherd, but the attention of the great master, Cimabue, having been attracted to the boy by a drawing the lad had made on a fragment of slate, the young artist's fame spread rapidly throughout southern Europe. In those days it was customary for the popes to send for the noted men of their realm, more for the purpose of gratifying their desires to see such celebrities than anything else. Giotto was no exception to the rule. No sooner had the young Tuscan become famous than Pope Boniface VIII. invited him to Florence. When young Giotto arrived at the gates of the pope's private grounds, according to the account, the guard halted him and inquired concerning his mission.

The artist made the matter plain, but the guard was not satisfied with his explanation. Frequently interrupting Giotto's explanatory remarks with, "I know he must be a much larger and distinguished looking person than yourself," and "Giotto, too, is a famous painter. By your walk I would take you to be a shepherd." Finally, upon demanding evidence of the artist's skill, the latter stopped and traced a perfect O in the dust of the path with his finger. Any one who has ever attempted the feat of drawing a perfect circle "offhand" will know how difficult it is.

It is needless to add that the artist was forthwith ushered into the presence of the supreme pontiff, and that since that time "Rounder than Giotto's O" has been a favorite hyperbole to indicate "impossible perfection."

ALASKA'S VASTNESS.
Our Big Territory Equal in Size to Twelve Great States.
Do you know that Nome, Alaska, is 300 miles west of Honolulu? Do you know that Alaska has almost two and a half times as much coast line as the rest of the United States?

If you start at Seattle and go up the coast through 400 miles of Canadian inland waters to the Portland canal you will come to that imaginary line that the Alaskan boundary commission decreed as the place where Alaska begins. This inland sea is very like the fjords of the coast of Norway and destined in time to become one of the world's great pleasure resorts, and when you know this region you will know the lack of diplomacy which lost us this picturesque coast line and left the Alaska of today detached territory. In very truth the cry of 1845 of "40-40 or fight" was right.

At the Portland canal Alaska begins, and as you sail up the thousand miles of this wonderful inland sea, of scenic beauty and grandeur surpassing anything in the world, you are in southeastern Alaska, which includes the entire coast and the mainland from the shore line to the summit of the coast range as far north as Mount St. Elias. From the summit of this high peak the boundary line between Alaska and British Yukon territory runs directly north to the "frozen ocean," as the old Russian treaty called it.

The territory of Alaska is about equal to the combined states of Michigan, Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota, Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas, Missouri and Kentucky. Maps are deceptive for comparison unless they are drawn to the same scale, and unfortunately maps of Alaska are generally drawn to a small scale. But put Alaska on the United States, and it will extend from Savannah, Ga., to Los Angeles, Cal. The climate conditions differ as greatly as those of North Dakota differ from those of Florida. The mean annual temperature of Sitka is about the same as that of Washington, though the extremes of heat and cold are greater at Washington.—William T. Perkins in World's Work.

When Editing Was Easy.
An aged Hartford man was talking about the late General Joseph H. Hawley.
"I remember well," he said, "the time when General Hawley was an editor in this town. I remember a story about editing that he told at a banquet fifty years ago.
"The man who introduced General Hawley began by saying that editors were always up to mischief of one kind or another. He said there was a Hartford man who once went to a Hartford editor and said indignantly:
"What did you mean, you scoundrel, by printing my name in your obituary column this morning?"
"Why," said the editor, "aren't you dead? I thought you were dead, of course. Don't you remember promising me last week that if you lived till yesterday you would settle that account of mine?"—Buffalo Enquirer.

When Editing Was Easy.
An aged Hartford man was talking about the late General Joseph H. Hawley.
"I remember well," he said, "the time when General Hawley was an editor in this town. I remember a story about editing that he told at a banquet fifty years ago.
"The man who introduced General Hawley began by saying that editors were always up to mischief of one kind or another. He said there was a Hartford man who once went to a Hartford editor and said indignantly:
"What did you mean, you scoundrel, by printing my name in your obituary column this morning?"
"Why," said the editor, "aren't you dead? I thought you were dead, of course. Don't you remember promising me last week that if you lived till yesterday you would settle that account of mine?"—Buffalo Enquirer.

When Editing Was Easy.
An aged Hartford man was talking about the late General Joseph H. Hawley.
"I remember well," he said, "the time when General Hawley was an editor in this town. I remember a story about editing that he told at a banquet fifty years ago.
"The man who introduced General Hawley began by saying that editors were always up to mischief of one kind or another. He said there was a Hartford man who once went to a Hartford editor and said indignantly:
"What did you mean, you scoundrel, by printing my name in your obituary column this morning?"
"Why," said the editor, "aren't you dead? I thought you were dead, of course. Don't you remember promising me last week that if you lived till yesterday you would settle that account of mine?"—Buffalo Enquirer.

When Editing Was Easy.
An aged Hartford man was talking about the late General Joseph H. Hawley.
"I remember well," he said, "the time when General Hawley was an editor in this town. I remember a story about editing that he told at a banquet fifty years ago.
"The man who introduced General Hawley began by saying that editors were always up to mischief of one kind or another. He said there was a Hartford man who once went to a Hartford editor and said indignantly:
"What did you mean, you scoundrel, by printing my name in your obituary column this morning?"
"Why," said the editor, "aren't you dead? I thought you were dead, of course. Don't you remember promising me last week that if you lived till yesterday you would settle that account of mine?"—Buffalo Enquirer.

When Editing Was Easy.
An aged Hartford man was talking about the late General Joseph H. Hawley.
"I remember well," he said, "the time when General Hawley was an editor in this town. I remember a story about editing that he told at a banquet fifty years ago.
"The man who introduced General Hawley began by saying that editors were always up to mischief of one kind or another. He said there was a Hartford man who once went to a Hartford editor and said indignantly:
"What did you mean, you scoundrel, by printing my name in your obituary column this morning?"
"Why," said the editor, "aren't you dead? I thought you were dead, of course. Don't you remember promising me last week that if you lived till yesterday you would settle that account of mine?"—Buffalo Enquirer.

When Editing Was Easy.
An aged Hartford man was talking about the late General Joseph H. Hawley.
"I remember well," he said, "the time when General Hawley was an editor in this town. I remember a story about editing that he told at a banquet fifty years ago.
"The man who introduced General Hawley began by saying that editors were always up to mischief of one kind or another. He said there was a Hartford man who once went to a Hartford editor and said indignantly:
"What did you mean, you scoundrel, by printing my name in your obituary column this morning?"
"Why," said the editor, "aren't you dead? I thought you were dead, of course. Don't you remember promising me last week that if you lived till yesterday you would settle that account of mine?"—Buffalo Enquirer.

When Editing Was Easy.
An aged Hartford man was talking about the late General Joseph H. Hawley.
"I remember well," he said, "the time when General Hawley was an editor in this town. I remember a story about editing that he told at a banquet fifty years ago.
"The man who introduced General Hawley began by saying that editors were always up to mischief of one kind or another. He said there was a Hartford man who once went to a Hartford editor and said indignantly:
"What did you mean, you scoundrel, by printing my name in your obituary column this morning?"
"Why," said the editor, "aren't you dead? I thought you were dead, of course. Don't you remember promising me last week that if you lived till yesterday you would settle that account of mine?"—Buffalo Enquirer.

When Editing Was Easy.
An aged Hartford man was talking about the late General Joseph H. Hawley.
"I remember well," he said, "the time when General Hawley was an editor in this town. I remember a story about editing that he told at a banquet fifty years ago.
"The man who introduced General Hawley began by saying that editors were always up to mischief of one kind or another. He said there was a Hartford man who once went to a Hartford editor and said indignantly:
"What did you mean, you scoundrel, by printing my name in your obituary column this morning?"
"Why," said the editor, "aren't you dead? I thought you were dead, of course. Don't you remember promising me last week that if you lived till yesterday you would settle that account of mine?"—Buffalo Enquirer.

When Editing Was Easy.
An aged Hartford man was talking about the late General Joseph H. Hawley.
"I remember well," he said, "the time when General Hawley was an editor in this town. I remember a story about editing that he told at a banquet fifty years ago.
"The man who introduced General Hawley began by saying that editors were always up to mischief of one kind or another. He said there was a Hartford man who once went to a Hartford editor and said indignantly:
"What did you mean, you scoundrel, by printing my name in your obituary column this morning?"
"Why," said the editor, "aren't you dead? I thought you were dead, of course. Don't you remember promising me last week that if you lived till yesterday you would settle that account of mine?"—Buffalo Enquirer.

When Editing Was Easy.
An aged Hartford man was talking about the late General Joseph H. Hawley.
"I remember well," he said, "the time when General Hawley was an editor in this town. I remember a story about editing that he told at a banquet fifty years ago.
"The man who introduced General Hawley began by saying that editors were always up to mischief of one kind or another. He said there was a Hartford man who once went to a Hartford editor and said indignantly:
"What did you mean, you scoundrel, by printing my name in your obituary column this morning?"
"Why," said the editor, "aren't you dead? I thought you were dead, of course. Don't you remember promising me last week that if you lived till yesterday you would settle that account of mine?"—Buffalo Enquirer.

When Editing Was Easy.
An aged Hartford man was talking about the late General Joseph H. Hawley.
"I remember well," he said, "the time when General Hawley was an editor in this town. I remember a story about editing that he told at a banquet fifty years ago.
"The man who introduced General Hawley began by saying that editors were always up to mischief of one kind or another. He said there was a Hartford man who once went to a Hartford editor and said indignantly:
"What did you mean, you scoundrel, by printing my name in your obituary column this morning?"
"Why," said the editor, "aren't you dead? I thought you were dead, of course. Don't you remember promising me last week that if you lived till yesterday you would settle that account of mine?"—Buffalo Enquirer.

When Editing Was Easy.
An aged Hartford man was talking about the late General Joseph H. Hawley.
"I remember well," he said, "the time when General Hawley was an editor in this town. I remember a story about editing that he told at a banquet fifty years ago.
"The man who introduced General Hawley began by saying that editors were always up to mischief of one kind or another. He said there was a Hartford man who once went to a Hartford editor and said indignantly:
"What did you mean, you scoundrel, by printing my name in your obituary column this morning?"
"Why," said the editor, "aren't you dead? I thought you were dead, of course. Don't you remember promising me last week that if you lived till yesterday you would settle that account of mine?"—Buffalo Enquirer.

When Editing Was Easy.
An aged Hartford man was talking about the late General Joseph H. Hawley.
"I remember well," he said, "the time when General Hawley was an editor in this town. I remember a story about editing that he told at a banquet fifty years ago.
"The man who introduced General Hawley began by saying that editors were always up to mischief of one kind or another. He said there was a Hartford man who once went to a Hartford editor and said indignantly:
"What did you mean, you scoundrel, by printing my name in your obituary column this morning?"
"Why," said the editor, "aren't you dead? I thought you were dead, of course. Don't you remember promising me last week that if you lived till yesterday you would settle that account of mine?"—Buffalo Enquirer.

When Editing Was Easy.
An aged Hartford man was talking about the late General Joseph H. Hawley.
"I remember well," he said, "the time when General Hawley was an editor in this town. I remember a story about editing that he told at a banquet fifty years ago.
"The man who introduced General Hawley began by saying that editors were always up to mischief of one kind or another. He said there was a Hartford man who once went to a Hartford editor and said indignantly:
"What did you mean, you scoundrel, by printing my name in your obituary column this morning?"
"Why," said the editor, "aren't you dead? I thought you were dead, of course. Don't you remember promising me last week that if you lived till yesterday you would settle that account of mine?"—Buffalo Enquirer.

When Editing Was Easy.
An aged Hartford man was talking about the late General Joseph H. Hawley.
"I remember well," he said, "the time when General Hawley was an editor in this town. I remember a story about editing that he told at a banquet fifty years ago.
"The man who introduced General Hawley began by saying that editors were always up to mischief of one kind or another. He said there was a Hartford man who once went to a Hartford editor and said indignantly:
"What did you mean, you scoundrel, by printing my name in your obituary column this morning?"
"Why," said the editor, "aren't you dead? I thought you were dead, of course. Don't you remember promising me last week that if you lived till yesterday you would settle that account of mine?"—Buffalo Enquirer.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS.

We never knew any one who did not talk "shop" too much.
How you admire the man who catches you doing a good deed on the sly!

What a sorry spectacle a spoiled child is when away from its mother! A whipping never hurts so much as the thought that you are being whipped.

Some men are washed of their sins so much that they finally have a faded look.
Tell a bad story without names, and every one will have an enemy to attribute it to.

Ambition dwindles away in time like a cake of soap, and by the time a man is seventy he can't remember that he ever had any in the tub with him.—Aitchison Globe.

Both Annoying.
"Two things make my wife awful mad."
"What are they?"
"To get ready for company that don't come and to have company come when she isn't ready."—Philadelphia Inquirer.

He that will keep a monkey should pay for the glasses he breaks.—Selden.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of Wm. D. Gifford</

